Issue No.053

Dear Readers,

We hope you will enjoy the small changes we are making to the format of our newsletter. We will continue to bring you interesting articles and facts but will also select a topic each week to focus on to give you more specific information and will identify with asterisks () the links that we think are particularly important. We would be happy to hear from you if think this is useful or if you would prefer some other changes. We hope that you are now sharing the information and facts in the Newsletters with friends, family and colleagues to get them interested in doing something. Remember we also need you to persuade 2 persons each week to subscribe to our free newsletter and to join our community of concerned citizens. Without your support on this we cannot achieve our aim of informing and mobilizing enough people to make a difference. Thank you.
